If the housing beneficiaries are not in the SHG, then the new group should be formed and everyone should be in the group, he directed. All the houses that have come up to roof level should be completed immediately, the Collector said and instructed the housing and municipal authorities to monitor the progress of construction of houses daily.

Chakradhar Babu directed the housing officials to go ahead with a specific plan and take steps to complete the constructions by Ugadi. A total of 16,000 houses will be completed by Ugadi and a Mega Housewarming programme will be conducted, the collector said. He suggested that an interest-free loan of Rs 35,000 is being provided to each beneficiary in the self-help group so that the beneficiaries can build the house quickly.

The collector informed the officials there was no shortage of material and sand is being given free of cost and added iron and cement are being given on subsidy. He said the beneficiaries were expressing satisfaction with the construction of the houses and asked the beneficiaries to cooperate with the officials and build the houses as soon as possible. CHIEF Minister Y S Jagan Mohan Reddy has been minting thousands of crores through illegal sand transport, alleged TDP national general secretary Nara Lokesh here on Saturday. On the 27th day of his padayatra 'Yuva Galam', he had an interaction with the construction workers at the campsite near Ankura Hospital who narrated their problems to him.

They said that several workers are migrating to other states as they lost employment here due to the steep hike in the prices of sand, iron and other material. The government promised to pay Rs 10,000 each to save the workers from the predicament and even collected several documents for them but till now not even a single rupee is paid.

They even complained that the Building and Construction Workers Welfare Cess funds too have been diverted. Not even identity cards are being issued to them. An electrician, Balaji informed Lokesh that at least 20 persons were working with him and since the permissions for new buildings are not being issued they lost employment. "We do not want any alms from the government but at least employment opportunities should be created for us to earn our livelihood," he opined. Responding to their heart-rending problems, Lokesh said that all their issues will be resolved on a war footing basis once the TDP government is formed again. "Under Jagan's government gold may be available but not sand," he remarked. The CM is earning Rs 3 crore a day on illegal sale of sand and Rs1,000 crore per month.

With this one can easily imagine how much money he is minting through illegal sand sale. The price of sand during the TDP regime was a mere Rs 1,000 per tonne and after YSRCP came to power it went up to Rs 5000, he noted.

Stating that Tirupati has two MLAs B Karunakar Reddy and his son Abhinay

Reddy and both of them are illegally collecting lakhs of rupees even for sanctioning permissions to build houses, he alleged. Even for drilling borewells one has to pay Rs 2-3 lakh, he stated. Lokesh promised to initiate all possible welfare schemes for construction workers once the TDP is back in power and will also waive their loans.

Later in the evening, Lokesh began his Yuva Galam from the campsite as thousands of youth welcomed him. The youth who walked along with him complained to him about growing unemployment in the state in the past three-and-a-half years. He also had an interaction with petty traders on the way. Meanwhile, the padayatra proceeded in several streets of the city and completed in Tirupati Assembly constituency by Saturday night and he entered Chandragiri constituency where he will stay overnight.

he said. He predicted that the attempts by the Chief Minister to suppress the media and the Opposition will certainly boomerang.

Which legislation has defined that TDP national president N Chandrababu Naidu, and the party national general secretary, Lokesh should not come onto the roads and should not open their mouth while the media should not raise any questions, he asked.

All the decisions of the Jagan government are against the law and thus both the government and the senior officials are regularly attending court.

CJI says his heart goes out to kin

"Only recently I read about the suicide of a Dalit student at IIT Bombay. It reminded me about the suicide of an Adivasi student in National Law University in Odisha last year. My heart goes out to the family members of these students.

But I also have been wondering where our institutions are going wrong, that the students are forced to give up their precious life," the CJI said. Darshan Solanki, a first year student hailing from Gujarat, allegedly died by suicide on February 12 in IIT Bombay.

The CJI said incidents of suicides from marginalised communities are becoming common. "These numbers are not just statistics. They are stories sometimes of centuries of struggle.

I believe that if we wish to address this issue the first step is to acknowledge and recognise the problem," Justice Chandrachud said.

The Chief Justice said he has been emphasising on the mental health of lawyers and equally important is the mental health of students. He further said not only must the education curriculum inculcate a sense of compassion among students but the academic leaders must also be sensitive to their concerns.

"I think the issue of discrimination is directly linked to the lack of empathy in educational institutions," Justice Chandrachud added.

As the Chief Justice of India, apart from judicial and administrative work his effort is also to throw light on the structural issues which confront the society.

"Therefore, promoting empathy must be the first step which education institutions ought to take," he said.
