Jagan launches ATC Tires unit at Atchutapuram

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Visakhapatnam

ANDHRA Pradesh has been making rapid strides in industrial development with 98 industries being set up in the State in the last three years with an investment of ₹39,350 crore, Chief Minister YS Jagan Mohan Reddy said on Tuesday. He commissioned ATC Tires' ₹1,250 crore manufacturing unit at Atchutapuram Special Economic Zone (SEZ) in Anakapalle district and pointed out that AP has retained number one rank in the Ease of Doing Business index for the last three years despite stiff competition and regulations. Rankings are given based on the industrialists' feedback.

"Industrialists like Adani and Ambani are now looking towards Andhra Pradesh. This was not the case earlier," Jagan said, adding that his proactive government is just a phone call away to address any issues face by industries.

Stating that ATC Tires commenced production in a record time of just 15 months, Jagan said the second phase expansion of the plant. He added that a total of 2,000 jobs would be created.

Get your fill of Gandhi's life at LB Stadium

ENS @ Hyderabad

At the exhibition, a stall was entirely dedicated to books written on Gandhiji. Also, there were stalls where books ranging from biographies and autobiographies of revolutionaries and freedom fighters, to eminent personalities from the film and the music world were on sale.

Send BJP government packing: KCR

Blaming the BJP-led Central government for all the ills plaguing the country, Rao called upon people to send the BJP government packing in order to bring the best in its place, which could do some good to the States. "We should chase away the evil forces and teach a befitting lesson to them," Rao appealed.

In the same breath, he promised, "We will provide water to Vikarabad under Palamuru-Rangareddy project. But, the people should know who stopped the project by filing cases in the court and expose them. Palamuru-Rangareddy project has been delayed due to the sheer folly and incapacity of the Central government. Those activists, who waved BJP flags before my bus today, should go to Delhi and explain to the Prime Minister the reason for the delay in completing the project. We have given hundreds of memoranda to the Centre in the last eight years to decide the share of Telangana in Krishna river waters, so that TS could construct the project. But, there is no response from the Centre. Today, Prime Minister is our enemy," the Chief Minister thundered.

Finance Minister T Harish Rao and Labour Minister Ch Malla Reddy attended the mass rendering of the National Anthem at Malla Reddy University on the city outskirts, where around 30,000 students participated.

Ganded farmers revive bull-driven 'ghana' to produce oil

VIVEK BHOOMI @ Hyderabad

AN ancient form of preparing edible oils which had gone extinct, is now seeing a revival. The demonstration of bull-driven 'ghana' (wood-pressed oil) production by the farmers of Ganded mandal of Mahabubnagar district caught the attention of many, at the week-long book exhibition organised by Telangana Sahitya Academy, Telangana Book Trust and Gandhi Global Foundation, which was inaugurated by Sports Minister V Srinivas Goud on Tuesday.

Three years ago, Srinivas Reddy and Basavaraj, both residents of Jaklapally village, who were inspired by Rajeev Dixit and Dr Khadar Valli's teachings, established a wood-pressed oil-making unit in their village, so that they could meet the nutritional requirements of the village.

Presently, they are producing oil out of groundnut, safflower, sesame, mustard and coconut. They have trained more than 400 farmers on how to make a decent livelihood and save people's health by producing the healthy oils devoid of adulteration. The trainees have already established 30 units in various districts, which is expected to reach 60 units soon.

"These oils are extracted with only 2-3 repetitions per minute processing, which retains the nutrients. These are otherwise lost in machine-driven methods, where high temperature is used for processing. Our products are rich in vitamins, essential fats, and can treat various diseases like the Parkinsons, fits, paralysis, Alzheimers, high blood-pressure and diabetes among others, depending on the oil consumed," Basavaraju tells Express, adding that it helps save bulls from being sent to slaughter-houses.

"On top of these benefits, it is zero-pollution, boosts rural economy, empowers the rural community and helps achieve self-reliance in oil production if taken-up on a large-scale," adds Srinivas Reddy.
