MOBILE PHONE EFFECT 5.8k kids suffer due to eye issues in Ballari

KIRAN BALANNANAVAR @ Ballari

AS a result of online classes and mobile addiction, more than 5,800 students have been suffering from eye-related problems in Ballari district. The health department came to know about this during their eye check-up drive in schools colleges.

Dr Veerendra Kumar, district officer for control of blindness, said they conducted eye check-up camps across the district, especially for children and youngsters. "We were shocked after we found eye-related problems among 5,800 children out of 33,000 students. It is mainly due to continuous watching of mobile devices," he pointed out.

Under the aegis of the blindness programme, the Ballari district administration conducted free eye check-up camps in many schools and colleges. During the drive, around 33,000 children were checked. In that 5,800 students have been found with eyesight-related problems. Luckily, most of these issues are in the initial stage.

Raghunath K, a resident of Ballari said recently he got his eyes checked at the government free eye check-up camp. His son, who is studying in 9th standard, also went with him. After finding his eyesight problem, the doctor suggested him not to use mobile phone. "The school teachers send few notes and chapters on phone and it has become unavoidable. We are worried about our children," he said.
