WORK ON WORLD'S LONGEST LPG PIPELINE HITS A SNAG

'Power supply to water lifting pump snapped for want of requisite permission'

SOURABH PUROHIT
Sonkatch

One of the most ambitious projects of Prime Minister Narendra Modi, to construct the world's longest LPG pipeline between Kandla in Gujarat to Gorakhpur via Varanasi and Madhya Pradesh, has hit a roadblock in Dewas district.

According to information, the project work has halted as the Sonkatch municipal council has snapped the power supply to the water lifting pump, as the Kalpataru Power Transmission Limited allegedly lifted the water from the Kalisindh river illegally in the absence of the necessary permission from the authority.

Notably, Kalpataru Power had on February 23, sought permission from the water resource department to take 500-kilo litre water from the hydro test of the KGPL pipeline section passing through a 30.76-kilometre portion of the pipeline in Sonkatch tehsil of Dewas district.

On Friday, following a complaint lodged by the locals accusing that company of illegally lifting water from the river with the help of heavy machinery, a team project in-charge. Locals have also accused the company of discharging pollut- ed water back into the river causing harm to the local fauna. Ashish Soni, in- charge water resource de- partment of Sonkatch mu- nicipal council said that company was lifting water from the river without legal permission.

Soni informed that the council had on February 22 already asked the company to furnish a permission letter and as the company failed to produce the per- mission letter, the council team snapped the power supply of the water lifting pump on Friday.

"We also asked company officials to appear before the municipal council with the permission," Soni added.

On the other hand, the company's project in- charge CR Chapre said that they had sought permis- sion from the water re- source department, Dewas and we had a permission letter as well.

It's a government project and we are doing our job here. We have to do a hydro test of pipeline and we sought permission to lift 500-kilo litre water from the water resource department paying its fees of Rs 8,000.

"Municipal council has stopped us doing our duty without any explanation", Chapre said.

Prime Minister Narendra Modi had in February 2019 laid the foundation stone for the ambitious project to construct the world's longest LPG pipeline.

The 2,757 kilometres long LPG pipeline will be laid from Kandla in Gujarat to Gorakhpur via Varanasi and Madhya Pradesh. It will be the longest LPG pipeline in the world.

Scenes send a chill down the spine: Students share live footage

Many buildings in Kyiv, Kharkiv, Odessa turn into debris

OUR STAFF REPORTER
Bhopal

Russian forces have advanced deep into Ukraine ravaging Kyiv, Kharkiv and Odessa cities where hun- dreds of buildings have turned into debris, blocking the thoroughfares.

From across the town, comes the rattle of machine gunfire and explosions. A black column of smoke, like a gasping serpent, emerges from the bomb-hit buildings.

Roads lie empty enduring the sings of destruction. This is the scene of the war- ravaged Ukraine, which the Madhya Pradesh students living there shared with Free Press on Saturday.

A red alert was sounded at 4.10 pm (7.40 pm IST) in Ternopil that has, so far, been safe, said Opil Jain, a student who hails from Uj- jain. A curfew was clamped on the town along with entire Ukraine, he added.

The scenes send a chill down the spine. Most stu- dents have taken refuge in bunkers from where they cannot even see what is hap- pening outside. Anjali Venipuri, pursuing MBBS from Kharkiv of Ukraine and native of Harda, said, "They are blasts continuously. I am hidden in the metro station with nine of my friends. My flat is 1 kilometre away from here. We are running out of food and supplies."

"I have been hiding in bunker with my friends for past two days. There are only bomb blasts and sirens one can hear. We dare not move out.

year MBBS student Aab- has Parihar, who is from Bhopal.

The students are carry- ing Indian flags in their hands to avoid difficulty with the soldiers, enroute. They have bottled water of at least 5 litres each and in- stant food packets.

"We cannot contain our relief and happiness that we're finally leaving Ukraine. Though it's a first step, it has cost us fortune, we are hopeful to see the dawn of the next day in a free atmosphere and reach home," said Parihar.

"We emailed our details to the embassy. We have re-interstate travel here. But I hope they pull us out from the border in time," he adds.

His friend, Satyam Sab- barwal, said, "We are hope- ful. Though our friends and fellow Indians are stuck along Poland and Ro- mania borders, we hope, they're rescued before we reach the borders and we are the next to be rescued."

ic and research work. Dr Anoop Swarup told the students about various types of information for academic quality, skill devel- opment and research and also assured to help the stu- dents for various foreign scholarships for research.

Vikram University (VU) and Sierra BioLife had signed an MoU earlier under the new education policy.

VU vice-chancellor Pro- fessor Akhilesh Kumar Pandey and Prof Anoop Swarup held a meeting for the same at Madhav Bha- van. They discussed pro- viding research-based technical information to the students of the Biology department in the university. Both the institutes agreed to organise various training programmes and seminars for enhancing the academic quality of the students in future.

The guest offered a gar- land on the sculpture of Professor Har Swarup. Head of the department and other teachers felici- tated Professor Anoop Swarup with a shawl and shریف.

Dr Santosh Kumar Thakur conducted the pro- gramme and HoD Dr Salil Singh proposed the vote of thanks.

Muslim youth held for attempting conversion

FP NEWS SERVICE
Mhow

A Muslim youth was booked under the Freedom of Religion Act for forcing a girl, 10 years younger than him, to become a Muslim and marry him.

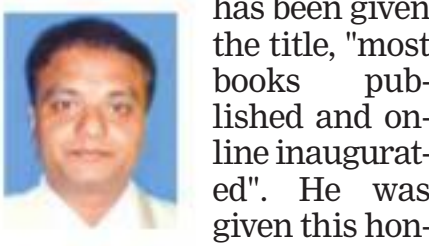

Sagore police station in- charge Rajendra Singh Bhadoria told media per- sons that a person named Sohail son of Naushad, a resident of Idgah road in Sagore befriended a girl who lived next to him. He somehow managed to take her pictures in a compro- mising position and then started putting pressure on her to convert her religion and marry him. When the girl refused, he threatened to upload her obscene pho- tographs on social media to defame her reputation. Frightened by the threat the girl accompanied him to Mandu on a bike and they checked into a hotel.

Members of a Hindu out- fit got information about it and thrashed Sohail and handed him over to the Mandu police where a case was registered against him and handed the matter to the Sagore police. Sohail was produced in a local court in Dhar from where he was sent to jail.
