China will keep backing Russia on sovereignty, security: Xi tells Putin

Praises 'good momentum of development' in bilateral relations since start of year

BEIJING

CHINESE President Xi Jinping told his Russian counterpart Vladimir Putin in a call on Wednesday that Beijing would keep backing Moscow on "sovereignty and security", according to state media.

China is "willing to continue to offer mutual support (to Russia) on issues concerning core interests and major concerns such as sovereignty and security", Chinese state broadcaster CCTV reported Xi as saying.

It was the second reported call between the two leaders since Putin launched his invasion of Ukraine on February 24.

China has refused to condemn Moscow's invasion of Ukraine and has been accused of providing diplomatic cover for Russia by blasting Western sanctions and arms sales to Kyiv.

According to CCTV, Xi praised the "good momentum of development" in bilateral relations since the start of the year "in the face of global turmoil and changes". Beijing was willing to "intensify strategic coordination between the two countries", Xi reportedly said.

China was ready to "strengthen communication and coordination" with Russia in international organisations and "push the international order and global governance towards more just and reasonable development", he added.

The European Union and the United States have warned that any backing from Beijing for Russia's war in Ukraine, or help for Moscow to dodge Western sanctions, would damage ties with China.

Rocket launchers' delivery soon: UK defence secretary

Oslo: Britain will soon deliver multiple-launch rocket systems to Ukraine in response to its request for heavy arms to repel the Russian invasion, UK Defence Secretary Ben Wallace said on Wednesday. Once bitter Cold War enemies, Beijing and Moscow have stepped up cooperation in recent years as a counterbalance to what they see as US global dominance. The two countries have drawn closer in the political, trade and military spheres as part of what they call a "no limits" relationship.

The two sides last week unveiled the first road bridge linking the two countries, connecting the far eastern Russian city of Blagoveshchensk with the northern Chinese city of Heihe.

Be with us: Zelensky presses Europe for help

Prague: Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelensky on Wednesday recalled the 1968 Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia as he pressed Europe for further help in responding to Russia's war in Ukraine. "We're with you, be with us," Zelensky told Czech lawmakers in Prague, quoting an appeal made by a Czechoslovak Radio presenter in 1968 as the occupiers tried to cut the radio off. "Now when the Ukrainian people are fighting for freedom against Russia's cruel invasion, we are using these words to address all nations of Europe and the democratic world," he added. "Ukraine should get everything necessary to achieve a victory."

Too early to confirm Russia war crimes: UN

Kyiv: The UN's Ukraine panel on Wednesday confirmed receiving multiple allegations of rights abuses by Russian forces, but said it was too early to say whether they constituted war crimes. "In Bucha and Irpin, the commission has received information about arbitrary killings of civilians," said commission chairman Erik Mose. But Mose said the UN was "not in a position at this stage" to provide a full legal characterisation of the events. AFP

Ankara: Turkey said on Wednesday that it was waiting for a "written response" from Sweden and Finland to Ankara's objections to their NATO bids. "We have transmitted our questions in writing to these two countries," said Turkey foreign minister. AFP

Storm in a teacup as minister urges Pakistanis to cut back on 'chai'

ISLAMABAD

A man pours tea for customers at a restaurant in Islamabad | AFP

A PAKISTANI minister has caused a storm in a teacup by urging citizens to cut back on drinking 'chai' as a way to preserve foreign currency that pays to import the leaves used in brewing the popular beverage. Pakistan is the world's biggest importer of tea — known locally as 'chai' — with the latest government figures showing it pays over $515 million a year to bring in the commodity, mostly from Kenya.

The country is suffering a long-brewing economic crisis, however, with dwindling foreign reserves used to pay crippling debt. "I would also appeal to the nation to cut down one or two cups of tea because the tea we import is also imported on credit," Ahsan Iqbal, minister for planning and development, said on Tuesday.

Pakistanis drink tea in many forms — black, green, hot, cold, sweet, salted and spiced — but the most popular is made by brewing the leaves in boiled sweetened milk. Iqbal's comments prompted outrage on social media on Wednesday and in tea rooms across the country.

"Why should we reduce the use of tea... we drink at our own expense, we don't drink with government money," said Jan Muhammad, 45, a truck driver who says he drinks between 15 to 20 cups a day. "When you drive and you can't see the road... then there is a risk of an accident. That's why 20 cups are compulsory," he said.

WTO ministerial conference extended in bid to seal deals

GENEVA

THE World Trade Organisation's ministerial conference will run over into a fifth day on Thursday in the hope of striking thus-far elusive deals on fishing subsidies, food security and combating Covid.

The gathering of trade ministers at the WTO's headquarters in Geneva was due to wrap up on Wednesday, with the global trade body hoping to conclude landmark deals to prove it still has a role to play in tackling big global challenges.

But WTO chief Ngozi Okonjo-Iweala, who has staked her leadership on breathing new life into the sclerotic organisation, said it seemed remaining sticking points could be resolved if ministers ploughed on.

"Progress is being made but it needs a little more work and more time," the director-general said.

A man walks past the World Trade Organisation headquarters in Geneva

The gathering is the first WTO ministerial conference in nearly five years. The global trade body only takes decisions by consensus among its 164 members.

"It requires that we work harder and work nights, whatever it takes. It is really time for ministers to make the requisite decisions that need to be made," said Okonjo-Iweala. AFP
