

Shortage of staff in Board, fund crunch derail state's rubber subsidy scheme

ABHILASH CHANDRAN @Kottayam

Amid the looming crisis over the plantation sector in Kerala, the Rubber Price Incentive Scheme (RPIS), an initiative of the state government to guarantee a minimum price of ₹170 per kg of sheet rubber to farmers, appears to be derailing following inordinate delays in completing the necessary paperwork. Farmers said the delay was primarily caused due to a shortage of staff in the field offices of the Rubber Board.

As a result, farmers are experiencing difficulties in submitting their bills, leading to a backlog of over one lakh pending bills at the Rubber Producers' Societies. On one hand, the delays in completing the procedural formalities hinder the scheme. On the other hand, the state government has failed to release the subsidies to farmers on time due to financial constraints.

Under the scheme, the government provides farmers with the difference between ₹170 and the price published by the Rubber Board for 1kg of sheet rubber and latex as a subsidy. The subsidy amount is credited to the bank accounts of growers through the Rubber Board. To claim the subsidy, farmers must submit bills from rubber dealers to the Rubber Producers' Societies (RPS) in their respective areas. Once verified by field

Vacancies have not been filled, making redeployment of employees impractical at the moment

An official with the Rubber Board

officers of the Rubber Board, the RPS authorities upload these bills to the state government's website. However, due to a shortage of sufficient field staff in the Board, bills are pending clearance at the societies.

"Vacancies have not been filled, making redeployment of employees impractical at the moment," said an official with the Rubber Board on condition of anonymity. The official also attributed the ongoing renewal process of scheme members as a reason for the delay.

RPS members have reported that field officers are not collecting bills from over 2,000 societies across the state. "There is currently no official data on the number of pending bills at the Rubber Producers Societies because the Board authorities are not collecting them. However, based on a rough estimate, there are at least two lakh bills waiting to be cleared," said Babu Joseph, secretary, National Consortium of Rubber Producers Societies (NCRPS).

During the previous scheme period, a total of 8.14 lakh bills were cleared by the Board from July to October 2022. Taking this into account, the number of pending bills is higher than expected.

In response to the delay, representatives from the RPSs, under the aegis of NCRPS leaders, held discussions with M Vasanthagesan, the executive director of the Rubber Board. Vasanthagesan reportedly assured them that urgent measures would be taken to address the issues related to staff shortages in field offices.

Meanwhile, the state government has not released any funds in the 9th phase of the RPIS scheme, which began in July 2023.

"The delay in releasing subsidy amounts to farmers has rendered the RPIS ineffective in supporting them. Though the government allocated ₹500 crore for the RPIS in the 2022-23 state budget, nearly ₹400 crore is due to farmers for the period from July 2022 to June 2023," Babu Joseph said.

The students had gone on an excursion to the Water Theme Park in Valancherry on November 28. Subsequently, the students started complaining about stomach pain and dysentery. The reason for the illness is yet to be found out. However, it is suspected that it may have been caused due to food poisoning.
