

Need to maintain same momentum in 2024, says PM

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, December 31

ASSERTING THAT INDIA is brimming with self-confidence, Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Sunday said that the country is imbued with the spirit of 'Viksit Bharat' and self-reliance, and urged people to maintain the momentum in 2024 as well.

In the 108th episode of Mann Ki Baat radio broadcast, PM Modi also emphasised on physical and mental health and highlighted several unique efforts for 'Fit India'.

In his remarks, Modi said, "Today, every corner of India is brimming with self-confidence, imbued with the spirit of a developed India; the spirit of self-reliance. We have to maintain the same spirit and momentum in 2024 as well."

Noting that 2024 was just hours away, Modi said India's achievements are the achievements of every Indian and "we have to continuously work for the development of India keeping in mind the Panch Pran. "Whatever work we do, whatever decision we make, our first criterion should be what will the country get from it; what benefits it will bring to the country. Rashtra Pratham—Nation First—there is no greater mantra than this," he asserted.

"Adhering to this mantra, we Indians will make our country developed and self-reliant. May you all reach new heights of success in 2024, may you all stay healthy, stay fit, stay immensely happy—this is my prayer. In 2024, we will once again discuss the new achievements of the people of the country," Modi said. During the broadcast, the prime minister listed several achievements and highs the country experienced in various spheres this year.

He pointed out that the record business on Diwali proved that every Indian is giving importance to the mantra of 'vocal for local'.

"Even today many people are sending me messages pertaining to the success of Chandrayaan-3. I am sure that, like me, you too feel proud of our scientists and especially women scientists," he said.

"When Natu-Natu won the Oscar, the whole country rejoiced with fervour. Who would not have been happy to hear about the honour accorded to the The Elephant Whisperers? Through them the world saw the creativity of India and understood our bonding with the environment," Modi said.

Centre plans phase 2 for discom financing scheme

RDSS provides for long-term concessional transition financing to the discoms, with an aim to reduce the discoms' aggregate technical & commercial (AT&C) losses at pan-India level to 15%. It involves funding by state-run sector-specific lenders PFC-REC under irrevocable state government guarantee, and gross budgetary support of ₹97,631 crore by the Centre. According to the official data, as on date, total loan disbursed by PFC-REC under the scheme is ₹1.12 trillion for 16 states, while sanctioned amount is ₹1.33 trillion.

The finance ministry has allocated ₹12,000 crore for the same in the Union Budget for FY24, but total funds released by the Centre for the scheme since its start are still below ₹6,000 crore. "Our primary objective rather than spending money is to control losses. If loss reduction is not satisfactory, the expenditure may slow," the official said.

The extant RDSS has two components: financial support for prepaid smart/system metering and upgrade of the distribution infrastructure and training and capacity building. Under the scheme, no new projects have been sanctioned, and only projects already sanctioned by March-end 2022 were eligible to receive funds. However, projects sanctioned for Ayodhya under the Integrated Power Development Scheme and under Prime Minister's Development Package 2015 were eligible to receive funds, till March 31, 2023.

The move to have a second version of RDSS can be attributed to the discoms' losses tending to rise again. "The programme aims at 15% reduction (in AT&C losses) by the end of the scheme (FY26). But now it has gone up again this year as collections are usually poor in the election year," the official said. Further, the official said many states have apparently not been transparent about revealing the AT&C loss figures and may be drawing money without any actual reduction in losses. "More or less, the states are complying. But some states have started (tweaking) the figures, particularly Uttar Pradesh and Bihar," the official said.

In FY22, India's AT&C losses stood at 16.5%, down from 22.3% in FY21, the latest data from the power ministry showed. The data for FY23 and FY24 is under evaluation. Similarly, the gap between average cost of supply and average revenue realisation declined to 40 paise per kwh in FY22 from 69 paise per kwh in FY21. The scheme aims to eliminate this gap by FY25. "The (funds) will not be a problem because this is the only flexible scheme in the power sector. Part of total revenue available with the government has to be (used) for development of the power sector," the official said.

The government has identified 57 discoms from 32 states and UTs under the scheme and has prepared detailed project reports for these.

"Till today, detailed project reports having total outlay of ₹1.2 trillion has been approved for loss reduction works and ₹1.3 trillion has been approved for smart-metering works," power minister RK Singh said in a reply to Parliament. But the progress on the ground is still to be visible, and it may come with a lag. "If you look at the overall progress, the sanctioned meters are somewhere around 220 million and we have installed only about 0.8 million so far," said Vikram V, vice-president & sector head, corporate ratings, Icr. "The scheme has to pick up and that is supposed to bring down the inefficiency in the collection system."

As per analysts, the installation of smart meters has lagged because of the lack of manufacturing ecosystem and delay in tendering activity. "All of it takes time therefore the government is likely thinking of extending the scheme," Vikram said. "If the government plans to extend the scheme beyond FY26 that implies the scheme has had positive outcome and still there work to be accomplished," said Ashok Khurana, director general, Association of Power Producers.

BharatNet tenders: Tejas, TCS seek a fair shot

Recently, despite successful quality checks and trusted source certifications, bids of some local players were rejected in a few government tenders for supplying telecom equipment, sources said.

There was also controversy over BSNL awarding a ₹1,000 crore tender for supply of optical transport network (OTN) equipment to Nokia by leaving out local players in the tender process. BSNL had said it strictly followed the government guidelines in reference to the Make in India procurement policy for the tender process, whereas local players alleged that they were ruled out on grounds of lacking trusted source approval requirement and absence of bank guarantee.

For the BharatNet tenders, therefore, these players have urged the government to keep the competition on pricing. Also, the government should reserve a portion of supplies for local players to boost its vision of 'Atmanirbharta', an industry executive said.

BSNL, which is the single project management agency of BharatNet, is soon expected to roll out tenders, based on which it will select companies to lay fibre, as well as operate and maintain sites connected under the project. The company is targeting to offer works and start implementation of the project by March and April, respectively.

Under the revamped ₹1.4 trillion BharatNet project, the government is expected to use high-speed satellite connectivity technology as well as fixed wireless access (FWA) to connect rural areas, along with fiber connectivity.

The target is to upgrade the existing 164,000 gram panchayats connected under BharatNet phase I and phase II projects, as well as connect around 47,000 gram panchayats under the new model. The revamped project involves a three-level architecture — internet leased line bandwidth to be provided by BSNL at 7,269 blocks; middle-mile connectivity (block to gram panchayat) that will involve private players to operate and maintain the project for 10 years; and last-mile connectivity (village to household) which is the Udayam model.

In August 2023, the Union Cabinet had approved the third such package of ₹1.39 trillion for BharatNet, taking the total allocation to over ₹2 trillion so far. In 2017, the Cabinet approved funding of ₹42,068 crore for the BharatNet (Phase-I and Phase-II) projects. In 2021, the Cabinet allocated another ₹19,041 crore to implement the project under the public-private partnership mode, which, however, failed to attract the interest of the private players.
